Deputy Director for Communications Security
National Security Agency
Fort George G. Meade, Maryland 20755

Mr. Deeley:

Mr. McMahon appreciated the opportunity to comment on the draft [Redacted] for communications security. Attached you will find a potpourri of comments he was provided. He thinks that they seem worthy of some consideration and passes them on for your use.

25X1

I think he already mentioned to you that he would be amenable to mentioning that an additional PD would be forthcoming on computer security.

Sincerely,

25X1

Bill,

Per our conversation, attached are the draft NSDD and the package we put together for the first draft. Keep us posted if you have any problems or need any help. You are probably aware of [] effort on computer security and will probably want to touch base with her also.

[redacted] as you will recall, is the Presidential Directive concerning communications security and was earlier under revision to include both communications security and computer security. The DDCI was successful in turning that around so that a draft was prepared which included only communications security.

[redacted] C/ISSG, advised me early on 6 February 1984 that NSA has prepared a new draft of [redacted] and that it contains "all the things we were against in the earlier version." Jim learned this on 6 February from [redacted] C/OC/COMSEC.

[redacted] says his belief is that, philosophically speaking, the new draft may not be too bad for CIA, but that it needs additional controls put on the National Manager (Secretary of Defense) and on the day-to-day manager (DIRNSA).

REMARKS

This is the new OC/COMSEC.

I just got a call from Chairman/SECOM (at 1703 hours today) asking if CIA wants to bring up the issue at tomorrow's SECOM meeting. does not want CIA to bring it up because of the 17 January EOD meeting and because CIA hasn't got its response ready. Chairman/SECOM says he'll have some other Agency bring up the matter.
